

The Daily Union Vedette.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 2, 1864.

A Copperhead Victory.

Copperheadism is elate—Rebeldom is jubilant—and how it is down below we cannot exactly say, having no report therefrom. Judging by analogy, and presuming demon Nature an exaggerated type of the human, we should say that all Pandemonium rejoiceth and is exceedingly glad. The triumph of loyal arms all over the bloody field of the rebellion and the peaceful victories in Maine, Vermont, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana have cast a deep shadow over sympathizers with treason, and they read the unmistakable indications of defeat in the November elections. Heavily overcast as is their horizon, they gloat over the little ray of light which has just beamed upon them. "Idaho has gone Democratic" is now their jubilant shout. So it seems. The recent election for Delegate to Congress has resulted, in that Territory, in the defeat of the Union candidate. This result is neither surprising nor significant. While there are many good men and loyal citizens in that Territory, as was evinced by the large vote for the Union candidate, it is a notorious fact that it has been the receptacle of outcasts from all parts of the earth. California, Oregon and Washington having pronounced for the Union, the great mass of the copperhead politicians flocked to the new Territory in search of the spoils of office. From the East for the past two years a constant stream thitherward has flowed—a stream of renegades seeking to cheat the draft. We should have been surprised had the Idaho election gone otherwise than it has. "Ephraim is joined to his idols." Copperheads will vote the so-called Democratic ticket, and we are not surprised that in our adjoining Territory recreant Northern copperheads and pertinent Southern rebels should have outnumbered the Union voters. The election is of no consequence; can have no effect on the approaching Presidential contest; is not even a straw to show which way the wind blows. "The next gale that sweeps from the loyal North" will come freighted with joyful tidings that the heart of the American people is in the right place, and beats true to the Union.

Now You See It and Now You Don't.—Verily the "little joker" is around. One of the passengers by Oliver's Express which arrived on Wednesday night, went confidently to a banking house in the city to have his sack of 27 ounces of gold dust weighed and cleaned. On untying the string and opening the sack, what was his consternation to see nothing therein—nothing but shot, pebbles and dirt. His story is that he left his sack of dust on deposit with a merchant at Virginia City, M. T., and had not opened or examined it since. If his story is true, that merchant had better make his peace with the "Vigils." At all events passenger is out 27 ounces of gold, and is much chagrined thereat.

DEATH OF WM. E. GOODRICH.—The Nevada Transcript announces the death, from consumption, of Wm. E. Goodrich. It occurred at the Union Hotel, in that city, on Friday last. Mr. Goodrich was formerly a resident of Marysville, and at one time owned the Steamboat Springs in this Territory. He was a man of excellent education.

FATAL MINING ACCIDENT.—Luka Dupuy, a Frenchman, was instantly killed on the 18th of October, in a mining claim at Washington ranch, near San Andreas, by a stone falling down a shaft 120 feet and striking him, who was at the bottom, on the forehead.—S. F. Bulletin.

FIRE AT MARYSVILLE.—The Marysville Laundry was burned yesterday afternoon. The origin of the fire was unknown. The loss is about $6,000.—Bulletin.

(SPECIAL TO THE UNION DAILY VEDETTE.)

Glorious News from Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 31st.

The official soldiers vote received at the Secretary's office to this date, stands thus: Union, 17,888; Democrats, 5,232. Going to test the Emancipation Question.

New York, Oct. 31st.

The Post's special says: Some of the slaveholders in lower Maryland are holding slaves in order to test the question of emancipation in the Courts.

A United States steamer enters a British port for coal, is refused and ordered out of the port.

New York, Oct. 31st.

A vessel arriving here reports speaking on Thursday last, the gunboat Mobile in chase of the pirate Tallahassee. Another vessel reports that the United States steamer Ticonderoga had visited the British West India island of Grenada on the 22d ult., for a supply of coal, but the authorities would not let her have it and ordered her to leave the port.

Affairs in Georgia.

New York, Nov. 1st.

The Times' Nashville special of the 31st ult., says: Direct communication with Atlanta by railroad is open and secure, although there are swarms of guerrillas between Etawaba river and Big Shanty.

A telegram from Gilliam this morning represent his last fight as brilliant in the extreme. The entire rebel force were scattered. Many officers, a full battery, and one extra gun were captured. Vaughn, commanding the rebels was severely wounded in two places, but is secreted somewhere in Green county.

A later dispatch from Gilliam says, we are still picking up prisoners, and that he had captured seventy rebels. His loss in both fights are eight killed and wounded.

Guerrillas are exceedingly troublesome on the Cumberland river, and on the Northwestern railroad.

Rebel designs, etc., etc.

New York, Nov. 1st.

According to the Herald's dispatch, the attention of Sheridan seems to be at present particularly directed to the apparent designs of the enemy's attempt in some important operations in West Virginia, and he is making his preparations accordingly.

The rebel Gen. Breckinridge is now in South-western Virginia, and is reported to be busy in reorganizing his forces with the supposed intention of making a movement to distract the attention of the Union army from Early, who, according to rebel newspapers, is to remain in command in the Valley of the Shenandoah.

Arrangements for a safe supply to Sheridan's army has been perfected. Such guards for trains as are going to the front, will hereafter be provided for as will insure them against guerrilla attacks.

A correspondent of the Richmond Enquirer gives a graphic description of the defeat and stampede of Early's army on the 19th of October at Cedar Creek, and his loss of fifty-seven cannon is admitted.

What Lee says of the fighting on the south side of Petersburg.

New York, Nov. 1st.

The Richmond papers contain accounts of the fighting on the south of Petersburg in the vicinity of the Boynton Plank Road; also Gen. Lee's official report of the operations on both sides of the river. The latter gives as the result of the day's engagement, the repulses of the Union troops at all points with considerable losses in killed, wounded and prisoners.

Rebel papers say the attacks of Butler were easily repulsed, but admit that the movement of our left was a surprise to

Lee's men, in which they lost considerably in prisoners; but soon, however, it is claimed, that the rebels rallied, but were driven back by Grant's men and making prisoners of about 500. The fighting at this point is represented as severe.

From Sherman--Stanton to be Chief Justice, and Blair Sec'y of War.

New York, Nov. 1st.

The last advice the Government had from Sherman, were to the effect that he should hold Atlanta in spite of any attempt of the rebels to dislodge him.

It is stated positively that Stanton is to be Chief Justice, and Blair Secretary of War.

The Tribune's Army of the James correspondent says: Only three or 400 of Cullen's and Fairchild's brigades were captured in the charge on the works on the 27th.

The Richmond newspaper accounts of the fighting south of Petersburg, say that Gen. Hampton lost one son killed and one wounded; and admit the loss of 400 prisoners. Gen. Dearing who was reported killed is unhurt.

From the Army of the Potomac.

Head-Quarters Army Potomac, October 30th.

The utmost quiet prevailed to-day.

Head-Quarters Army Potomac, October 31st--6 a. m.

The rebels attempted to play a sharp trick last night on our lines which only partly succeeded. The main object of the attack was defeated with a considerable loss to them. At the point of connection between the 2d and 5th corps, the pickets of the rebels made an entrance, and passing from one post to another took all the men prisoners. They then sent forward a heavy force to charge our line of breastworks in the hope of piercing our center, but our men had in the meanwhile formed behind our works, and received the rebels with such a fire as drove them back in confusion with heavy loss. Repeated attempts ended with like results, though firing was kept up all night. Our loss was 347 men captured; in killed and wounded, very few. The enemy's loss was heavy as they advanced within range of our batteries, though it being dark our men had not a good range.

A Terrible Railroad Collision.

Indianapolis, Nov. 1st.

A terrible collision occurred on the Lafayette and Indiana railroad last evening between a passenger train which left here at 3 o'clock, and a cattle train coming south. Twenty-eight dead bodies have been taken out of the wreck, and two have since died. Twenty or thirty were wounded. The accident occurred six miles south of Lafayette. The majority of the killed and wounded are returned soldiers.

Sentenced to imprisonment for life

--Rumors about Atlanta--Guerrillas defeated.

Washington, Nov. 1st.

Donohoe and Ferry, agents in the recent election frauds have been convicted by a military commission and sentenced to imprisonment for life, and the sentence has been approved by the President, and will be immediately carried into execution.

Reports have been in circulation for some days past that Atlanta was being evacuated. The President authorizes their denial, and says that Sherman, at last accounts, said he would hold the place under any circumstances. No move that Hood can make will endanger this point.

A fight occurred between a large force of Mosby's men and a portion of the 8th cavalry, on Sunday in the neighborhood of Salem, Virginia. The guerrillas were routed. Our loss was three killed and four wounded. The rebel loss is much greater, including sixteen prisoners.

Another Democratic Convention in Session.

New York, Nov. 1st.

A National Convention of Democrats opposed to the Chicago Convention, is in session here to-day. Delegates are present from all the loyal States. The meeting was called to order by Geo. A. Brandreth, and R. B. Roosevelt was made temporary Chairman. A business Committee was appointed.

Emancipation Celebration.

Baltimore, Nov. 1st.

The Emancipation was celebrated here to-day by a salute of 100 guns at day-break, accompanied with the ringing of bells. Flags were displayed from the public buildings and many private dwellings.

The rebel ram Albemarle blown up.

Washington, Nov. 1st.

The Navy Department has information that the rebel ram Albemarle was blown up on the morning of the 28th by the picket launch No. 1. The destruction was complete. The launch was subsequently sunk by the enemy's shot. The ram had long been a source of annoyance to our fleet in Albemarle Sound.

Newbern dates of the 27th, report that the yellow fever has abated considerably.

The Charleston Mercury says, that President Davis, who has been opposed to making any concessions whatever to the enemy, has been finally prevailed upon to grant an Armistice to the North, provided it is solicited in a respectful manner. The proposed armistice if granted, raises the blockade by land and sea, which will enable our people to lay in a large amount of supplies.

Nashville, Nov. 1st.

Since the repulse of Hood at Decatur, he has moved further west, along the south side of Tennessee.—He is believed to have crossed some of his infantry at or near Bainbridge, twelve miles above Florence. A rebel rumor here has reported that he is coming this way. His purpose is difficult to ascertain; undoubtedly his movements are prompted by the desire to affect the coming election. Forrest, with a cavalry force, is reported threatening Johnsonville, where are large quantities of government stores. Three transports were destroyed by a party of his men.

New York, Nov. 2d.

The Tribune's correspondent on the left of the army of the Potomac, under date of 30th, says, a new angle of a mile and a half south-west which was acquired on our left, by recent strategic demonstration, is being strongly fortified. I understand that the army line road is to immediately push out to the left two or three miles beyond its present terminus. The way this important extension of our fortified line came to be so easily made, was by the enemy's weakening their lines of battle at this point to intercept what they took to be a flank movement around their extreme right, while they were massing against the 2nd and 5th corps. On the extreme left the 9th corps shoved in at this point and took the line of their works, which was recrossed and now forms our new left angle. Probably, not during the war, has so important an extension of fortified line been made with so little fighting. This, like other movements recently demonstrated, shows the growing weakness of the rebel army.

New York, Nov. 2d.

The Wilmington Journal of the 22d, says great preparations are making there for the defence of the place. All non-combatants are required to leave. The Charleston Mercury of the 22d, says a movement is on foot in that vicinity to wrench Atlanta from Sherman, and intimates that it will be done by a column of six to ten thousand men. Gen. Joe Johnson is living in retirement at Macon, Ga.

The Raleigh Standard denounces the ultra position of the assumed convention of rebel Governors.

THE LOSS OF THE MONITOR.—The New Bedford Standard publishes a letter from John J. P. Zettick, an officer of the monitor Tecumseh, giving some interesting particulars of the loss of that vessel during Farragut's attack upon the forts in Mobile Bay. Mr. Zettick says:

Our Captain—whose loss the Department and all of his friends, as well as the officers under his charge, deeply regret—being anxious to have an encounter with the proud vessel, and wishing to test the invulnerability which the rebels supposed her to possess, was steering toward her, and was in the pilot-house with the pilot and one quartermaster, but did not notice the buoy in time, until it was too late, when he gave orders to put the helm a-starboard, but was so near the buoy that we ran on a torpedo. The next minute all felt a shock as though the vessel had run aground, and immediately the water came rushing up in large quantities.

Some of us made our way through the turret, and some of those that were at the guns went out at the port-holes, and succeeding in casting adrift one of the boats. Being below at the time I made my way out as soon as possible. I thought that I should not be in time to get out before the vessel sank. When I got on the top of the turret the shot, shell and canister came flying around so thick that I made my way as soon as possible into the water. The vessel was sinking, and careening over to the left, so that the water was up above the port-holes when I got into it. It was about two minutes from the time the torpedo exploded under her till she went down. There were but four men in the boat, and not more than six yards from me. I hailed them, but hardly had they their oars out when they pulled away in a different direction, picking up Acting Masters C. F. Langley and Gardner Cotrell, who were in an exhausted state.

GENERAL THOMAS FRANCIS MEAGHER.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune telegraphs that paper that Gen. Meagher returned lately from the army of the Potomac, and had been ordered to Sherman. He declares that, although he respected Gen. McClellan for gentlemanly qualities, his letter of acceptance stamped him as unfit for President. Parties from the front reported at Washington that an extraordinary change had been caused in the political sentiment of the army by McClellan's letter.—His feeble expressions disgusted the soldiers.

GENERAL BIDEWELL, who was killed in the recent engagement in the Shenandoah Valley, was a brother-in-law of the Crawford brothers, of Nevada, California. He volunteered from Buffalo, New York, more than two years ago, and until recently was Colonel of the 49th New York regiment.—He served in Sedgwick's Corps, until that officer fell, and General Wright was placed in command. Bidwell was made a Brigadier General.—Virginia Union.

"LITTLE MAC" REPUTED.—A Democratic meeting held at Oroville, September 17th, closed with three rousing cheers for Al and Andy, and three for Grant. Seventeen prominent citizens who were present testify to the fact in the Marysville Ap'l. Poor "little mac."

Local Matters.

We were amazed yesterday morning, while returning from our usual "square meal," at the vexation of one of our Vols. This Vol. was making rapid strides for some destination, to us unknown, when all of a sudden the velocity of his walking conveyance was checked—the "switch tender" had failed to adjust the track, the "signal" was all right—his "scraper" came in contact with a tent pin and our brave Vol., with a full head of steam, was precipitated headlong—as soon as the realization of his collision came round, he collected himself, looked at the pin—blessed (?) it—and in retaliation renewed the collision between boot and pin, by forcibly impressing the cause of his tumble with "several" kicks that it had insulted the "dignity of the flag"—and had caused an irreparable breach between them for all time. The pin, with mock gravity, which does not allay the irritation of our insulted Vol., points him to the shoe-maker's shop and suggests the immediate pegging of his boot. Our Vol., chagrined at being thus confronted, limps off and allows that he was sold.

F. S. Stevens and G. W. Peck, discharged Volunteers—the former 1st Serg't, and the latter duty Serg't of Co. H, 3rd Inf'y, C. V., have established themselves as a trading firm at Soda Springs, Idaho Ty. They purchased their merchandise of the firm of N. S. Ransohoff & Co., S. L. City, consisting of a general stock of everything adapted to the trade in the vicinity in which they are located.

To help him through, Miss F. E. Garrett, of Soda Springs, has consented to become the sharer of Mr. Stevens' fortunes.

Our Reviews, Dress Parades and Guard Mountings are soon to recover from the lethargy in which they have for a period been unawakened by the enlivening strains of the cornet, saxhorn, etc. Seventeen of our Vols. have become organized and are to be enrolled as a Post Band. They are practicing nightly, and we hear they will soon become proficient in their several parts—so we may expect ere many days to see our Parade Ground at the hours of Parades, Retreat, etc., resume its soul cheering appearance.

Lieut. S. E. Jocelyn, A. C. M., mustered out of the service on Monday, Nov. 1st, 1864, the below named officers of the 3rd Inf'y, C. V.: Capt. Josiah Hosmer, Co. E; Capt. David Black, Co. H; Lieut. W. H. Dodds, Co. B; Lt. Francis M. Griffin, Co. C; Lt. Jas. Finnerty, Co. E; Lt. Francis Todd, Co. F; Lt. Chas. Billig, Co. K.

The celebrated National Minstrel Troupe, composing some of New York's and New Orleans' most talented performers, will give a performance at the Camp Theater to-night. Their programme is good, and a "heap" of fun, burlesques, etc., may be expected.

entirely invoke its name in extenuation of treason, and its temples are consecrated by the homage of the Godless worshippers who kneel beside its altars. In its high places where once sat the great teachers of democracy, now crouch the cowering apologists of anarchy and disunion; and its halls which in the past echoed the eloquence of the patriots of the republic, now ring with the shouts of lawlessness and disloyalty. And this is the phantom invoked from the grave of party by the spirit of treason which leads the van of disaffection in the north, and beckons the loyal devotees of democracy to a betrayal of his country.

Fellow citizens, which ticket will you vote?
Your suffrages must be given to McClellan, the Chicago platform and national dishonor, or to Lincoln, the triumph of the federal arms and the establishment of an honorable and lasting peace. Calmly viewing the vital issues of the canvass, can you doubt the awful consequences of a Peace Democratic victory in November?

THE STORY OF HOW GUERRILLA MORGAN WAS CAUGHT AND KILLED.—A dispatch dated Washington, 16th September, to the New York Tribune says:

The Richmond Examiner of the 9th (?) tells the story—or a story—of the capture and death of the notorious John Morgan. It seems that he was on a reconnaissance near Greenville, East Tennessee, and using the privilege of his highwayman's practice, took lodgings at an inviting house near the village. This pleasant little house happened to be the residence of a Mrs. Williams, whose husband is an officer on Gen. Burbridge's staff. Mrs. Williams kept quiet until the guerrilla chief fell asleep. Then she hastily procured a horse, rode at full speed for fifteen miles, and returned with a small squad of Union soldiers. Just as they arrived, Morgan awoke, and seeing his danger, broke from the house, but he was confronted on all sides by bayonets. Desperate at being thus caught by a woman, he drew his revolver, swore he would not be taken alive, and undertook to break through the guard. They fired, and John Morgan's career of infamy and blood was finished.

COLD FEET.—Cold feet are the avenues to death of multitudes every year. It is a sign of imperfect circulation—of want of vigor of constitution. In the case of cold feet, the amount of blood wanting there collects at some other part of the body which happens to be the weakest. When the lungs are weakest, the extra blood gathers there in the shape of a common cold, or often spitting of blood. Clergymen, other public speakers, and singers, by improper exposure, often render the throat the weakest part; to such, cold feet give hoarseness, or a raw burning feeling, most felt at the bottom of the neck.

That brave son of East Tennessee, Admiral Farragut, not nailed his flag to the mast, but he lashed himself to the mast during the late fight at the entrance of Mobile Bay. He shouted his orders to his sailors on deck below through a speaking trumpet, wherefore fame will about the name of Farragut through her trumpet for all coming time.—Nashville Times.
